

Please be aware that the use of cell phones on board an aircraft would create a very disruptive environment. We have all learned to do without them to this point-we can continue to do without. Many people take this time period to do other work or complete reading of work documents or books. And some people enjoy the quiet time that is available during a flight- it may be there one chance for quiet throughout a hectic day. As soon as the plane starts unloading passengers people have their cell phones open and are making calls-I don't want to listen to them before that time! It is my estimation that as rude as people are in public with cell phone use this behavior would only create issues on board a plane. Please do not allow this!
